

LI

What can we learn from Abraham's descendants?

Page 2

For the promise Abraham, had to wait and wait and wait.

Since Abraham was very old,

it seemed it was too late.

When he turned one hundred years,

the promise came to pass.

God did what he had promised and he had a son at last.

Page 3

To Abraham's son Isaac

the promise would pass on.

Then to Isaac's second son,

the birthright would belong.

Jacob was a trickster and his father he deceived.

But still he was the one through whom the promise was received.

Page 4

Jacob married four wives and then he had twelve sons.

So of Abraham's descendants

there'd be tons and tons.

God had said that first in Egypt,

the people'd be enslaved.

Then four hundred years would pass before they would be saved.

Page 5

From Egypt God would take them, back to the promised land.

One day he would deliver them
by his almighty hand.

But in the meantime they would have to wait and wait and wait.

God's timing is just perfect;
it's not too soon or late.

Page 6

Remember God is faithful and in him we can rest.

As he fulfills his promises and always does what's best.

He is watching over us and knows our every need.

So we can follow after him

wherever he does lead.

Page 1

God gave a call to Abraham,
a very faithful man,
To take his things and family
and move to a strange, new land.
God promised he would give him
a son in his old age.
When that all would happen,
only God could gage.

What can we learn from Abraham's descendants?

D - D	Make sign of "D"
Descendants	Touch sign of "D" to temple repeatedly
God knew	Lift arms up into air & look up
Their every need	Bring sign of "N" back & forth to chest
D - D — Descendants	Same as above.
They went where	Walk 2 R fingers on L palm
God did lead	Keep moving palm out

